FACES OF 2013

Every year an eventful year in Bucks County

Photographer Rick Gould created a New Year's tradition at the Herald. He gathered head shots taken at events throughout the year and assembled them for the first issue of the new year. Sometimes he traveled far afield to see celebrities - presidents and candidates and film stars - and he made them part of the year's wrapup. He mixed them with locals in a photo montage. We lost Rick just before Thanksgiving. He had been ill for most of the year, so we have done this photo page without him. But our thoughts are with Rick and his family as we dedicate this 2013 page to him.
